

KNOW WHY YOU MEET

Do you love your meetings?

Nadia von Holzen

There is a good chance
I love mine, when I know why I am invited and how I can contribute.

Purpose creates
energy, motivation
and commitment.

When I invite others
it's never without purpose: honoring their time, talents, and contributions.

A clear purpose
for every meeting is like putting the compass in the right direction.

“The purpose of your gathering is more than an inspiring concept. It is a tool, a filter that helps you determine all the details, grand and trivial.”

Priya Parker

Facilitators know this.

Learning Moments

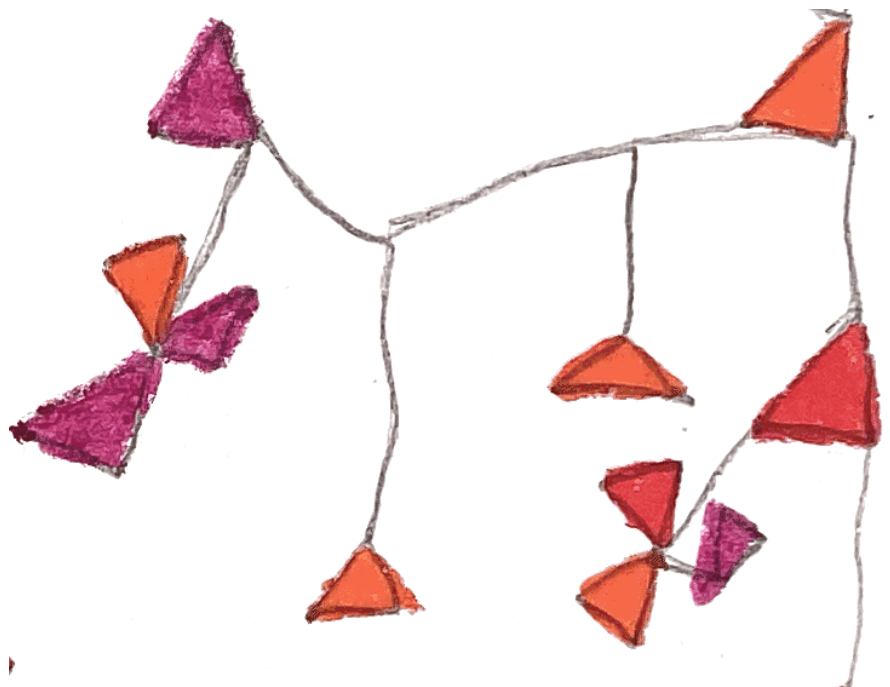

You don't need to be a facilitator to clarify the purpose. Ask yourself: Why am I/are we organizing this meeting? What am I/are we hoping to achieve?

Facilitate your meetings!

Because
facilitated meetings
are better meetings.
